

A Call to Committed Service

Learning From the Call of Joshua

- Commitment is something that must be continually remembered and renewed.
- Commitment does not come without cost or difficulty.
- Commitment is not something to be made lightly.

Learning From the Call of Elijah

- Commitment is often diminished by sinful attitudes we continue to harbor.
- Commitment can be prevented by sin-induced cowardice.
- Commitment made during times of ease can be difficult to maintain.

Learning From the Call of Jehu

- Commitment involves more than a willingness to engage in the parts of God's will that we enjoy.
- Selfish or partial obedience to God is not recognized as genuine commitment.

Protect Your Commitment From

- Forgetfulness and a half-hearted devotion
- The cowardice that comes by being given over to sin
- Confusing service of self with service of the LORD
